PROFILE

A dedicated industrial designer with a passion for creating and producing designs for commercial and industrial use. My enthusiasm for design stems through my keen design sense and love for change. Throughout my academic career, I found pleasure in learning that design requires the consideration of aesthetics, functional and ergonomic dimensions. I am proficient in devising and creating practical and aesthetically pleasing designs that meet the needs of the clients. I pride myself in my ability to solve problems, generate creative solutions and communicate ideas to overcome obstacles.
